SENATOR SAVAGE: Mr. President, and members of the Legislature. I have been requested by the Trustees of the Joslyn Art Museum who are in some financial trouble. They have to sell some of the valuable paintings- and ~~that~~ are on display up there to meet their deficit. I've been requested to invite the members of the Legislature to a luncheon today at the University Club at twelve noon. There will be a bus at the west door immediately after adjournment and for the benefit of those members of the Legislature. The lobby room across the street will be closed this noon. So that we should like to have you have lunch with us. And listen to their story. Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT: Thank you, Senator Savage. Senator Stahmer.

SENATOR STAHMER: Yes, there was so much talking going on, I couldn't hear alloo what Senator Savage was saying.

PRESIDENT: Senator Savage repeat the invitation then, please. Let's have a little attention of the body.

SENATOR SAVAGE: The Trustees of Joslyn Museum who are in some financial difficulty and faced with the problem of having to sell some of their valuable paintings have requested the members of the Legislature to attend a luncheon this noon at the University Club. Busses will be waiting for you at the west side of the capital, and the lobby room across the street will be closed this noon. So we hope that you will join us. Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT: Now, Senator Whitney. All right you are passing. All right, Senator Keyes.

SENATOR KEYES: A point of personal privilege.

PRESIDENT: State your point, Senator.

SENATOR KEYES: This morning I had placed on your desk an article from the New York Journal of Commerce. It seems that I have introduced a bill in this Legislature that deals with commodity markets, trading in stocks, bonds, cattle futures, grain, etc. There is about seventeen other states in the national that are looking forward to what Nebraska is going to do. And I realize that this bill is tied up, and is not going to get passed this year. Iowa sent me a copy of the bill that they have which is practically a duplicate of what we are trying to do. This bill, if it becomes law in the next year or so will have the most far reaching affect on the agriculture in the state of Nebraska that any bill that has been introduced. So I'd like you to read what I've placed on your desk and if there is any possible way that you think we can help, help me with it will you please? There is a meeting in Des Moines today, I should have been to it. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Do we have any other resolutions on the desk?

CLERK: None.

PRESIDENT: Ready then for the consideration of bills of Select File.

CLERK: LB877, Mr. President is on Select File for specific amendment by Senator Chambers.
